REP, MARTIN DIES WILL BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER FOR DAY

LARGE ATTENDANCE FROM SURROUNDING TERRITORY EXPECTED CELEBRATION

Corsicana will be host to Navarro county and representatives of a wide area of Central Texas on Tuesday, July 30, to a great "Americanism" rally on the courthouse lawn and at the grounds of the Corsicana Livestock and Agricultural Show. By a unique coincidence, the date will be the 321st anniversary of the first representative assembly, held on July 30, 1619 in the town of Jamestown, a part of what later became the state of Virginia.

Reports from Chicago Thursday indicated that Henry A. Wallace (above), secretary of agriculture in President Roosevelt's cabinet, had received the endorsement of the president for his running mate in the 1940 presidential campaign. Indications were that Wallace would be named by the convention. For several days representatives of the American Legion and other civic and patriotic organizations have been busily engaged on plans for the gigantic enterprise which is expected to draw from 10,000 to 25,000 persons to the city for the occasion.

25,000 persons to the city for the occasion.

Chairman Martin Dies of Orange, of the congressional investigating committee on un-Americal Activities, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker for the occasion, and has promised to reveal as much of recent evidence secured in Texas as possible in his address for the evening. The acceptance was made by Mr. Stripling, secretary to the committee. Members of the arrangements committee were attempting to complete telephonic communications with the congressman Thursday afternoon.

Flag Pule Tresentation.

According to the plans for the occasion as outlined at a meeting of a general arrangements committee Thursday morning, the proceedings will be started with the presentation of a flag pole and national emblem to Navarro county by members of the Corsicana Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the courthouse lawn at 4 p. m. On the nominating rollcall, the president had support from 44 out of 55 delegations at the gathering and his nomination was virually assured from the start. Less than two hundred votes were cast against him. The president is scheduled to address the convention by radio at 8 o'clock Thursday night, and the quadrennial meeting is expected to be completed at the session of the convention. How to Get a Discount on Your Rent . . .

RENT is a major expense in families that do not own their own homes. In the past the only way to get your rent reduced was to move into cheaper quarters. . . . BUT NOW, within the last few months, a situation has come about which offers a NEW . . . and much more interesting solution.

. . . because of the new 41/2 percent interest rate, monthly installments on F.H.A. building loans work out A THIRD LESS THAN RENT on most any size new home.

Strange as it may scem . . . a new home offering better accommodations than rental property costs less per month than the rent. . . . FUR-THERMORE, a good portion of the payment is SAVED because it reduces the principal of the loan each month.

With initial payments reduced to 10 percent on small homes you can now reduce monthly and save part of each lowered payment by becoming your own landlord.

afternoon for the staging of a county-wide Americanism rally in Corsicana, Thursday, July 25. This program will be under the auspices of the Johnson-Wiggins Post No. 22, American Legion, and various civic organizations. Several detachments of the United States Army will be displayed and all military units in Navarro county will be massed for public inspection. A number of visiting Army officers will be here. Joe Daniels presided and outlined the tentative plans of the American Legion for the program. He said that the United States Army detachment to visit Corsicana will be composed of a cross section of the latest defense equipment and will have a personnel of 54 men in addition to a 30-piece military band. Martin Dies Invited

Tentative plans, he said, calls for a large parade in the downtown business section during the day and a patriotic address at the Fair Grounds during the evening. Negotiations are underway to secure Martin Dies, chairman of the un-Americanism activities .committee of the United States Congress, to deliver the address, Daniels stated.

C. E. McWilliams, post commander, asserted in a brief talk that the patriotic rally is not designed to scare people into joining the army nor it is planned to create sentiment for America's participation in the war, but is to show the people how well prepared America is to meet an invasion and the need for an adequte preparedness.

Discussing the feasibility of such a program, Lowry Martin declared that the program should not be planned in view of aphould be held in a spirit of opimism in regard to future peace, preparedness, and prosperity. It [is assumed that every man is patriotic and loves his country,

Hysteria Unwarranted He termed wide spread fear and hysteria of fifth column activities as "silly" and "an insult to our intelligence." He said the program should show the people how rapidly America is being prepared for | any eventuality. LONGEST LANE, AND DARKEST, HAS BEEN LIGHTED BY TORCH*

Civilization, in Fearsome Testing Time, Still Guided by the Light of Simple Faith-Parallels to the Ancient Experiences of Job-"The End Proves All."

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

"Never judge unfinished work," is the advice one father often dinned into the ears of his sons. "The fund proves all," says the wise proverb. Most of life is in process, and so not be estimated as a completed thing. Today's adversity may be the equipment for tomorrow's presentity.

and in that vision Job learned to despise himself—his littleness, his reproaches. There is littleness, his reproaches. There is nothing that shrinks a man to his true measure like doing first hand business with the Almighty. A real experience of the God who many young men for whom brilliant futures have been prophesied have turned out to be nobadies; and how many quet, unobserved plodders have arrived at the goal of greatness! Our Lesson is an amplification of Asquith's "Now we know in part."

If we are to go Times

ourselves hopelessly mistaken. As these words are written, our world is sitting, like Job, amid the ashes of sorrow, covered with painful sores. Tormenting our ears, like Jobs comforters, are the clamorous and clashing counsels of too voluble and too ignorant highbrows. While the race is underway they are criticising the runners, as if the contest were already won or lost.

If mankind has any wisdom at all adequate for the occasion it all adequate for the occasion it will learn from history, and from Job, that patience is part of progress; and that a dark today may be only the background of a bright tomorrow. God's plans are large tomorrow. God's plans are large and long: He is going to conserve liberty and righteousness among men in His own way. Without faith in the future, we have no faith at all. Said the poet, F. W. Pabara.

"Thrice blest is he to whom is given instinct that can tell, That God is in the field, when

He
Is most invisible."
It is ours to trust when we cannot understand. It needs no faith to walk by sight: our test, like Job's, comes when we cannot see, but only believe.

Patience The Key
Patience is the key that unlocks the door of success. Not without profound reason does the Bible so frequently adjure readers to "Wait on the Lord." The British quality of strongly sticking through a tough experience has at times been the hope of the world. I was in London on "Black Sunday," in March, 1918, when the Allied cause seemed almost hopeless. There March, 1918, when the Allied cause seemed almost hopeless. There were no hysterical crowds before the bulletin boards in Fleet Street. The people seemed to have withdrawn into their homes and their churches. I attended service with a famous ship-builder, and his only comment on the somber news was, "As Wellington said, "It's hard pounding, gentlemen; hard pounding," Within six months that apparent defeat had turned into victory.

Two months ago, speaking to world-wide audiences over the air, the British King and the American world-wide audiences over the air, the British King and the American President fervently called upon the people to pray, pledging their personal participation in this storming of heaven by faith. Their great words sobered millions; and quickened the peoples faith that God would intervene on the side of those who champion justice and righteousness and freedom and peace. God's ways are not our ways; and the road may be long and hard; but it leads home.

A Commonplace Experience Parallels to Job's, experience, of progress through doubt and denials to vindication and satisfaction, are common in everyday life. Countless mature Christians can tell how God has dealed their woild their world and perish, but have everlasting life.

Instant's dole of praisg. Stand to your work and be wise—certain of sword and pen.

Countless mature Christians can tell how God has denied their petitell how God has denied their petitions but answered their needs. To our own ignorant prayers must be added Infinite wisdom. Many of us have had reason to be grateful that our misguided supplications were disregarded by heaven. God has "been kinder to us than all our fears." In ways unpredictable to our human ignorance, the Father in Heaven has given the to our human ignorance, the Father in Heaven has given the answer we would have asked had we known how to pray aright.
Past experiences thus buttress our present faith.

Job and Our Times

If we are to go off half-cocked in our estimate of the present international situation we shall find ourselves hopelessly mistaken. As The long-suffering One tempered only as an introduction to a spiritual ransaction in person.

As To Those Friends

Like a popular motion picture, the Book of Job has a happy ending. Even the discomfiture of Job's friends satisfies the reader's sense of justice. They were severely rebuked by the Lord, "for ye have not spoken of Me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath." is right, as my servant Job hath."
The long-suffering One tempered His indignation by saying, "My servant Job shall pray for you, for him will I accept, that I deal not

"As the marsh-hen secretly builds on the watery sod, Behold I will build me a nest on the greatness of God: I will fly in the greatness of God as the marsh-hen flies In the freedom that fills all the space 'twixt the marsh and space 'twixt the marsh and the skies: By so many roots as the marshgrass sends in the sod

Mr. Roosevelt passed up all engagements today to handle office routine while waiting for the notification to correct through.

That left him ample time to prepare an address, and radio facilities were ready to carry it on getting the word that Mr. Roosevelt wanted to go on the air.

MINISTER PREDICTS UNIFICATION CHURCH ORGANIZATIONS SOON

REV. C. DUKE PAYNE PRIN

CIVITANS THURSDAY

A prediction that the day is not too far distant when all the Christian churches of the world will unite into one organization was voiced by Rev. C. Duke Payne, pastor of the First Christian church, in an address before the Corsicana Civitan Club Thursday noon at the Navarro Hotel.

Speaking at length on what will determine the most significant events of the first christian thurche Century in regard to historical importance, Rev. Mr. Payne asserted that what the world today may view as tremendously important will be mere incidents when reflected upon by the world of several centuries hence.

Emphasizing his statements, he compared the fame of the mighty compared the fame of the mighty Tartar conqueror Tamerlane, who ruled all the world in the fourteenth century, to that of the lowly German printer John Gutenberg, the man who invented the moveable type, thereby making it possible for the great educational systems of the world to come into being. The fame of conquerors die with them, he added, while the fame of those like Gutenberg will live on.

After several such world conventions, an organization known as the World Council of Churches was formed and a constitution, which was agreed upon by all Christian churches, was written as follows: "This organization shall be a fellowship of churches which cases were a love of the characteristics." as follows: "This organization shall be a fellowship of churches which accepts our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Savior."

Though very brief, the minister pointed out, this represented a historical occasion in the re-unification of the church.
